(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Miss Graveley gave a very delightful theatre-party and supper to a few friends after the theatre Tuesday night. Those present were Misses Kate Boatwright and Alice Cummings and Messrs. H. and L. Freeman and Mr. Waddell. Tuesday was the regular ladies' day at the Elks' Club, but the past one was different from others in having afforded more pleasure to the visitors than usual. During the afternoon musical selections on the onophone were rendered by Prof. R. L. Snead and at night the club had an orchestra which played until 12 o'clock for the fair visitors and their escorts to dance. There were quite a number present, and the day and evening was one of the most pleasant in the history of the club.

A subscription german is being danced at the Municipal Hall to-night. The weather is getting rather warm for Germans, and while this one is unusually pleasant, it is not as largely attended as is the rule.

A great deal of interest is manifested in the approaching marriage of Miss Mary E. Boyd, of Raldisville, N. C., to Mr. R. L. Dibreil, of this place, which takes place on the 27th instant. ## DINWIDDIE'S GOOD AMATEUR ACTORS

Theatrical Entertainment of the Hebron Library Club on Monday Night.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

HEBRON, VA., May 2.—One of the most delightful entertainments ever witnessed by the people of Hebron and vicinity was that given by the Hebron Library Club in Brown's Hall Monday night of this week. This hall, which is one of the largest in the village, was crowded, and the large audience could scarcely be seated with comfort. Yet so great has been the interest of the people in the affairs of this club, and so well was their anticipation gratified, that for more than two hours the closest attention was only relieved by applause.

The entertainment consisted of drama, comedy and music. Paul Leicester Ford's "Wanted: A Chaplain," as dramatized by Miss Jessie Young, was presented by the following cast:

Lydia Greenough, a country girl, Miss Lottie Allen.

Mrs. Travers, her society aunt, Miss Edm. Prossie.

Mr. Travers, her uncle, Mr. Eugene Hobbs.

Allan Murchison, a chemist, Mr. S. H. Allen.

Monica, his Irish servant, Miss Ellen Nese.

Richards, a drunken butler, Mr. D. H. Fisher.

Policeman.....Mr. Lee Winn.

This little play was a gem in itself. Although in the hands of amateurs, it was handled in such a way as to convince the old theatergoer that he was really in front of the genuine lights. In dramatizing this play Miss Young displayed no little talent.

The programme was very appropriately concluded with comedy, the bill being "A Box of Monkeys," which was rendered in a happy style before an applauding and laughing house by these young ladies and gentlemen:

Sierra Bengaline, a Western girl, Miss Jessie Young.

Mrs. Ondego Jones, her society aunt, Miss Lou Allen.

Lady Guinevere Blampford, her guest, Miss Emma White.

Chauncey Ogilthorpe, Lady G's sweet-heart.....Mr. Dyeretta Prossie.

Edward Ralston, Sierra's lover, Mr. Lee Fisher.

So favorably was the entertainment received that the club has been persuaded to repeat it elsewhere in the county, and this will be done later in the spring.

The club now has the determination to build a club-house, which will be a great accession, furnishing, as it will, a permanent place for its meetings and entertainments. A circulating library is rather an innovation for a country neighborhood, and is a source of great pleasure to the book-lovers debarred from the libraries of the city.

A SOCIETY EVENT IN WINCHESTER

Piano Recital Given at Fairfax College for the Winchester Memorial Hospital.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WINCHESTER, VA., May 2.—A recent social event was the elegant recital given last week at Fairfax College for the benefit of the Winchester Memorial Hospital. It was a royal success. There were but four participants, Mrs. William E. East, of Portsmouth, Ohio, an accomplished mezzo-soprano; Mrs. Grace Daggett-Kerr, of Abingdon, Va., elocutionist; Miss Estelle Mae Shore, who is acknowledged to be the leading player upon the pipe organ in this section, and Miss Virginia Cover, pianist, who received her musical education in Germany. The programme was well received, and Mrs. East was given quite an ovation. On the following Sunday she sang at the Presbyterian Church in the morning and at the Episcopal Church in the evening. On both occasions the churches were crowded to the doors. Mrs. East is the sister of Miss Shore.

Mr. Courtney Baylor and family, of Boston, who have been spending the winter in this city, have left for Colorado. His mother, Mrs. L. D. Baylor, and her accomplished daughter, Miss Margaret, who also spent the winter here, will leave in a few weeks for their summer home at Gloucester, Mass.

GERMAN IMMIGRANTS

A Large Business in Shipping Poplar Wood for Paper Making.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

MEHLERIN, VA., May 2.—Several German farmers have located here in the past few weeks and purchased farms near Simplicity Postoffice, and as a result a few new buildings are going up near town. These settlers are all very simple in their ways, and the future of Simplicity is very promising. Two families have sold out and left this past week, and while some are leaving others are coming in.

Many contracts have been made by Richmond concerns with merchants at this point, for poplar wood to be delivered this summer. This industry is growing very popular here, and car after car is shipped from this point to Philadelphia, where it is manufactured into pulp. The farmers use all their spare time from their crops and cut this down early, and out and split it up. It can be easily handled, and later, when it is thoroughly dry, it is hauled to the station.

Most of this wood is purchased through the merchants here, and they receive a share of the profits.

Mrs. W. B. Newby of Crews, is spending a few days as the guest of her people, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Staples, near here.

Mrs. H. V. Bruce, of Monroe, N. C., is the guest of her people near Milburn.
